Special requests: Songs; dances; birthdays; anniversaries; other toasts, thing you do want/you don't want; etc.

* Introductions: It would be helpful if you could provide a "phonetically spelled" list of the bridal party and you may want to acknowledge grandparents (seated) followed by the parents of the bride, the groom, bridesmaids & ushers, best man & maid/matron of honor, flower girl & ring bearer (if any) and then bride and groom. We also find that if you do the first dance right away, guests feel more invited to dance. If you have any questions, please let us know as these are only suggestions or a place to start and any alternative formats or ideas are welcome. Thank you,

Bobby & Susie Dick
